ORPHAN'S HOME

James Arbuckle and Arthur Hutchinson, charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency, through having purchased stoles meat from Leslie Townly and Jan's Fitzsimmons, youths aged 12 and 15 respectively, were tried before Justice Stanley A. Hanks yesterday. Owing to the fact that a doubt arose as to the intent of the defendants, they were discharged, though it was proven by the testimony of the youths that the meat was stolen from the Kearns St. Ann's orphanage April 5, and disposed of to the defendants. James Arbuckle and Arthur Hutchinson

Seven hams and seven sides of pork were seven hams and seven sides of pork were stolen by the boys, both of whom were wards of the orphanage. The testimony brought out in the case proved conclusively, however, that a number of dealers in the southern part of the city have made a practice of buying various articles from the orphanage children at prices so ridiculously low that it would be apparent that they had been stolen. Probation Officer they had been stolen. Probation Officer Guardello Brown is investigating this phase of the matter further, and promises further prosecution if adult witnesses can
